

U.S. Department of Justice

*United States Attorney
Eastern District of California*

501 I Street, Suite 10-100
Sacramento, California 95814

916/554-2700
Fax 916/554-2900

For Immediate Release
January 21, 2005

ANOTHER VISA BROKER SENTENCED FOR WIDESPREAD INTERNATIONAL BRIBES-FOR-VISAS SCHEME

SACRAMENTO - Assistant Attorney General Christopher A. Wray of the Criminal Division and U.S. Attorney McGregor W. Scott of the Eastern District of California announced today that an individual who served as a "visa broker" received a sentence of 1 year and 8 months imprisonment for his role in a bribery and visa fraud scheme involving the unlawful issuance of approximately two hundred visas from the U.S. Embassies in Sri Lanka, Fiji and Vietnam.

Judge Garland E. Burrell, Jr., sentenced Rachhpal Singh, 32, of Newark, California, to 20 months imprisonment and a fine of $10,900. Singh was also ordered to serve a three year term of supervised release following release from imprisonment. Under federal law, Singh will be required to serve at least 85% of the prison time imposed.

Long N. Lee, 52, a now terminated U.S. State Department Foreign Service Officer and career State Department employee, and her husband, Acey R. Johnson, 34, a former Consular Associate, were previously sentenced to 60 and 63 months imprisonment, respectively, for their leading roles in the scheme.

Lee was the Chief Administrative Officer at the U.S. Embassies in Sri Lanka and Fiji from 1997 to 2003, and had previously served as the Consular Officer at the U.S. Embassy in Vietnam between 1995 and 1997. Johnson had worked as a Consular Associate in the U.S. Embassies in Sri Lanka and Fiji between 1997 and 2003. The convicted defendants admitted that Lee agreed to arrange for the issuance of U.S. visas in exchange for bribes as early as 1995. Both she and Johnson, acting in concert, continued the scheme from 1997 through their arrest in April 2003.

As part of the scheme, "visa brokers" located in Northern Virginia, the greater Sacramento area, and the greater Los Angeles area, collected bribes from foreign nationals, ordinarily from India or Vietnam, and steered the nationals through the visa application process, including travel to the U.S. Embassies where Lee and Johnson were posted. Lee and/or Johnson then caused visas to be issued to the nationals and later accepted hundreds of thousands of dollars in bribe payments from the brokers. On instructions from Lee and Johnson, the brokers broke bribe payments into transactions under $10,000 to avoid scrutiny by financial institutions and law enforcement, and then forwarded payments to Lee, Johnson and their family members. Using the bribe payments, Lee and Johnson, among other things, amassed $350,000 in cash (deposited in various bank accounts or secreted in their Oregon home), sent a series of payments to their children, and acquired and/or maintained two separate properties—a seaside home in Port Orford, Oregon, and a vacation home in Bailey, Colorado.

A total of 10 defendants have been convicted in the case. Four other visa broker defendants were previously sentenced, Narinderjit Singh Bhullar, 40, of Sacramento, California, to 33 months imprisonment, Ramesh K. Jaisingh, 57, of Fairfax, Virginia, to 21 months, Rajwant S. Virk, 47, of Herndon, Virginia, to 15 months, and Phuongh Hien Lam Trinh, 35, of Gardena, California, to three years probation. Three other visa broker defendants have pleaded guilty and await sentencing. Defendants Vinesh Prasad, 33, and Minesh Prasad, 30, of Sacramento, California, and Kim Chi Lam, 53, of Gardena, California are scheduled to be sentenced on January 28, 2005, before Judge Burrell. An eleventh defendant is a fugitive.

The case is being prosecuted in U.S. District Court in Sacramento by Assistant U.S. Attorneys Benjamin B. Wagner and S. Robert Tice-Raskin and by Trial Attorney Noah D. Bookbinder of the Public Integrity Section, headed by Noel L. Hillman, Chief. It is the product of an extensive investigation conducted by the Diplomatic Security Service of the U.S. Department of State, and by agents with the FBI and several other state and federal agencies associated with the Joint Terrorism Task Force for the Eastern District of California, including the California Bureau of Investigation, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the Bureau of Immigration Control and Enforcement of the Department of Homeland Security. Sri Lankan law enforcement authorities also provided assistance in the investigation.

###